A Christmas Wish... And A Small Miracle

(AN EDITORIAL)

If we could have one wish for children everywhere, we would wish that their parents could give them the gift of always seeing Christmas with the eyes of a child.

So that as adults, remembering, they could recapture at least once a year the miracle of a child's Christmas.

This year should be recorded in the annals of history as the year such a miracle happened in Hancock County. A small miracle, perhaps, it began modestly enough with no thought of grandeur or dramatic heraldry. But like the proverbial pebble dropped in the pool, it caused waves which spread rapidly and widely throughout the community, reaching even into a neighboring state. Concurrently, we discovered a great truth. Miracles are made by people. Or through people.

In the beginning of December, the pebble was dropped. Bay St. Louis firemen announced the instigation of a Doll and Toy Fund. A tidal wave of public response resulted and within two weeks the fire station was inundated with bicycles, dolls, toys and cash donations.

It was almost as though, one surprised young fireman said, the public was just waiting for a way. Instances of touching response, far too numerous to list here, happened every day until Christmas eve, enabling a real live Santa Claus, surrounded by happy firemen, to bring gifts and Christmas dinner baskets to the homes of 126 children and 27 families.

The best part is that there are many gifts still coming in, which will form the nucleus of next year's Fund. The Waveland Volunteer Fire Department will join the Bay and their combined ambition is to insure that every child in the entire county will be able to see next Christmas as a child should.

Ecclesiastical authorities might say to call it a miracle without proof is presumptuous and bordering on irreverence. But one must consider the irrefutable proof that is within all those who gave, for in their giving they received the greatest gift of all.

Isn't that what Christmas and miracles are all about?

Infant Killed In Auto Accident

A six-month-old infant boy became the tenth traffic fatality in Hancock County this year when the automobile in which he was riding with his parents collided head-on with another car on Highway 43 at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Kenneth Ray Lee was killed when the 1970 Plymouth driven by his father, Donald Larry Lee, collided with a 1971 Pontiac driven by Mrs. Cindy Ann Ratcliff, 20, Rt. 4, Box 472, Poycune. The infant's mother, Mrs. Beverly Joyce Lee, 20, was also a passenger in the Plymouth.

According to a report by Mississippi State Highway Safety Patrolmen Ray Collins and James Woodfin, the Plymouth was traveling in the wrong lane on the two-lane highway, causing the accident in the Kiln community.

All four passengers in the two cars were taken by Riemann Ambulance to L.O. Crosby Memorial Hospital in Poycune, where the baby was pronounced dead on arrival. The three adults were given emergency treatment and transferred to hospitals in Hattiesburg.

Mrs. Lee was admitted into Forrest General Hospital where she underwent lengthy surgery Wednesday afternoon. Her husband was admitted to the intensive care unit in the same hospital. According to a hospital spokesman both were listed in serious condition late Wednesday.

Mrs. Ratcliff was admitted to Methodist Hospital in Hattiesburg with a fracture of the leg and multiple contusions and listed in fair condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee are residents of Poycune and she is the daughter of Bay St. Louis policeman Alvin Favre.

W.J. Pippin, chairman of the commissioners, appointed Frank Lee, Commissioner John Smith, County Agent, and Shirley Smith, District Conservationist to explore and suggest ways the commissioners can work with other county officials in Outdoor Recreation Projects. Hildon Shaw, commissioner, was assigned the

Additional Charges Filed Against Smith

Danny Lee Smith, arrested with his wife Jean March 1, 1972 for burglary and larceny in connection with the theft of merchandise from Demoran's Television Store in Bay St. Louis, is being held without bond in Hancock County jail on additional charges filed by authorities in Santa Clara County, Calif.

Smith and his wife entered guilty pleas to burglary and larceny charges in October term of Circuit Court. Mrs. Smith, 31, was given a three-year suspended sentence to the state penitentiary and was placed on five-year probation and transferred to Oklahoma. Smith, 33, was released on bond awaiting sentencing in the January term of Circuit Court.

Smith's bond was revoked by the bail bondsman shortly before a warrant was issued for his arrest by the California authorities charging him with the November 22 theft of a 1967 Chevrolet Camaro from Star Motor Imports Co. in San Jose, according to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, WHERE ARE YOU?

The air is charged with excitement. The entire city of Jackson goes into high gear as the hour approaches for the opening of the 1973 session of the state legislature.

As a warmup for the main event invitations, mostly verbal, go out for the usual plethora of pre-opening parties hosted by "friends" of the politicians, each trying to outdo the other in affairs designed to make our prestigious lawmakers feel at ease away from home.

At the parties, one can easily distinguish the neophyte legislator from the experienced bill-pusher. He goes to all the parties, fresh faced and unsuspecting, aglow with the illusion that what his host said is so—just a little informal get-together to welcome you aboard and get to know each other better.

His illusions begin to fray around the edges shortly after entering the first party. An amazing number of people have gathered in a private suite in an expensive motel. Blinking in the semi-darkness he tries to find his host somewhere in the heavy fog blanketing the room. Shuffling through the crush of bodies he recognizes a few familiar faces and is pleasantly surprised to notice that many seem to have brought members of their families. Even more surprising, they're all extremely attractive and very friendly.

Suddenly, his host appears out of the fog, presses a drink into his hand and slaps him jovially on the back. After that it is all uphill. The drinks get stronger, the fog heavier and the guests friendlier.

The next day, as he shakily drops two Alka Seltzers in a glass, he tries to remember why he had been given the two cases of well-aged beverage sitting in his room, who the two phone numbers in his coat pocket belong to and who had actually been with whom. And how he had gotten home.

His initial glow has apparently turned into a temporary amnesia as he desperately tries to remember what he had agreed to so readily by the end of the evening. He wasn't too worried, however, as he did remember being assured repeatedly that "there are no strings attached, of course."

By the third party his illusions have been completely dispelled and he has the whole thing figured out. By then it is too late. Legislative sessions have begun and he is periodically and graphically reminded of all the things he couldn't remember the first morning after. He also seems to have developed a permanent and possibly terminal hangover as well as a whole bunch of new, close friends, most of whom he would like to forget and none of whom would ever forget him. More unfortunately, they all seem to have a phenomenal memory for details of the parties.

Sitting in the midst of the confusion of the House, he reflects on the rapidly with which he had matured as a legislator. As a matter of fact, some mornings following long night sessions, he feels as though he has aged 10 years. Some mornings he doesn't look too good, either.

He also thinks about how much he has learned. He has learned a lot of new forms of recreation, he has learned new ways to apply his former campaign statements, he has learned to beware of Greeks (and beverage distributors) bearing gifts. Most importantly, he has learned that his education in the secondary level classroom was incomplete. Daily sessions in the arena listening to his colleagues pontificating about a proposed bill is not where its at! The daytime exercises in rhetoric are only a warmup for the night sessions during which the key issues are decided and the real commitments are made. In the depth of his musings, a great truth suddenly occurs to him with painful clarity. Laws are made by men—in smoke filled rooms.

Nostalgically he thinks back to a traumatic experience in his youth which spawned his ambition to someday become a legislator.

As a high school senior his winning essay on "Americanism in Action" brought him to Jackson to spend a day observing the legislature.

That's where it all started.

The birth of an illusion.

(Next week: Democracy or Dementia? That is the question.)

Students Host Party For Foster Children

Students in Bay Senior High School Vocational Training Dept. hosted a Christmas party Dec. 20 for children in foster homes throughout the county.

Twenty-one foster children, ranging in age from three to 13 were treated to a three-hour party at the skating rink on DeMontluzin St. Everybody skated and those who couldn't very well had lots of help from the high school students.

The highlight of the party was Santa's arrival, on skates, with gifts for all the young guests. A long banquet table in the lounge was laden with food and candies.

The activity was a joint effort of the 51 students in Distributive Education, Trade and Industrial and Marketing classes at the high school. According to Tommy Brooks, head of the Vocational Dept., the party was financed totally through students' fund raising efforts throughout the year as well as class dues.

Why Americans own 55 billion dollars worth of U.S. Savings Bonds.

One good reason is the Payroll Savings Plan. About three-fourths of all Bonds are purchased through the Plan. It's helping Americans save more money than they ever dreamed they could.

That's because the Payroll Savings Plan is such an easy way to save. All you do is sign up where you work and the amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's the easy way to build a nest egg.

You've got your reasons to save money. There's one great way to do it painlessly. Join the millions who are buying Bonds the Payroll Savings Way.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, WHERE ARE YOU?

The air is charged with excitement. The entire city of Jackson goes into high gear as the hour approaches for the opening of the 1973 session of the state legislature.

As a warmup for the main event invitations, mostly verbal, go out for the usual plethora of pre-opening parties hosted by "friends" of the politicians, each trying to outdo the other in affairs designed to make our prestigious lawmakers feel at ease away from home.

At the parties, one can easily distinguish the neophyte legislator from the experienced bill-pushers. He goes to all the parties, fresh faced and unsuspecting, aglow with the illusion that what his host said is so—just a little informal get-together to welcome you aboard and get to know each other better.

His illusions begin to fray around the edges shortly after entering the first party. An amazing number of people have gathered in a private suite in an expensive motel. Blinking in the semi-darkness he tries to find his host somewhere in the heavy fog blanketing the room. Stumbling through the crush of bodies he recognizes a few familiar faces and is pleasantly surprised to notice that many seem to have brought members of their families. Even more surprising, they're all extremely attractive and very friendly.

Suddenly, his host appears out of the fog, presses a drink into his hand and slaps him jovially on the back. After that it is all uphill. The drinks get stronger, the fog heavier and the guests friendlier.

The next day, as he shakily drops two Alka Seltzers in a glass, he tries to remember why he had been given the two cases of well-aged beverage sitting in his room, who the two phone numbers in his coat pocket belong to and who had actually been with whom. And how he had gotten home.

His initial glow has apparently turned into a temporary amnesia as he desperately tries to remember what he had agreed to so readily by the end of the evening. He wasn't too worried, however, as he did remember being assured repeatedly that "there are no strings attached, of course."

By the third party his illusions have been completely dispelled and he has the whole thing figured out. By then it is too late. Legislative sessions have begun and he is periodically and graphically reminded of all the things he couldn't remember the first morning after. He also seems to have developed a permanent and possibly terminal hangover as well as a whole bunch of new, close friends, most of whom he would like to forget and none of whom would ever forget him. More unfortunately, they all seem to have a phenomenal memory for details of the parties.

Sitting in the midst of the confusion of the House, he reflects on the rapidity with which he had matured as a legislator. As a matter of fact, some mornings following long night sessions, he feels as though he has aged 10 years. Some mornings he doesn't look too good, either.

He also thinks about how much he has learned. He has learned a lot of new forms of recreation, he has learned new ways to apply his former campaign statements, he has learned to beware of Greeks (and beverage distributors) bearing gifts. Most importantly, he has learned that his education in the secondary level classroom was incomplete. Daily sessions in the arena listening to his colleagues pontificating about a proposed bill is not where its at! The daytime exercises in rhetoric are only a warmup for the night sessions during which the key issues are decided and the real commitments are made. In the depth of his musings, a great truth suddenly occurs to him with painful clarity. Laws are made by men—in smoke filled rooms.

Nostalgically he thinks back to a traumatic experience in his youth which spawned his ambition to someday become a legislator.

As a high school senior his winning essay on "Americanism in Action" brought him to Jackson to spend a day observing the legislature.

That's where it all started.
The birth of an illusion.

(Next week: Democracy or Dementia? That is the question.)

And Did You Know...

Many of us are familiar with famous dogs of today and yesterday, like Lyndon Johnson's beagles, President Nixon's Irish Setter, the Welsh Corgis of Britain's Royal Family.

But did you know that Michelangelo's Pomeranian accompanied his master to work in the Sistine Chapel; that Wagner's Poodle sat in the orchestra pit pricking his ears to the sound of the Valkyries; that Chopin's Minute Waltz was written for a Poodle? And that a Fox Terrier named Laurel followed Napoleon into exile?

Remember, your pet's best friend is the veterinarian!

Caldwell Participates In MSU Education Program

James R. Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Caldwell of Bay St. Louis is participating in the Cooperative Education Program at Mississippi State University while working for a Bachelor of Science degree in forestry.

Under this five-year program he is receiving not only his regular college education, but also two years of practical experience in forestry.

In addition to this experience he receives a salary. This financial reward is only one of the many advantages of the Cooperative Education Program.

Caldwell is completing a work semester with U. S. Forest Service, located at Jackson, Mississippi, and will be returning to the Mississippi State campus for the spring semester.

During this work semester

Caldwell says his duties have included, "marking timber for thinning cuts and clear cuts in order to establish a new age class of young timber."

He says of this work assignment, "My work assignment is very good in that I am working with the timber marking crew whose objective in conjunction with the modern timber management program is to insure a plentiful supply of wood materials for the future."

Caldwell is one of the many State students taking advantage of the Cooperative Education Program which is available in agriculture, arts and sciences, business and industry, education, engineering and the school of forestry resources.

Employment Jumps 19%

Unemployment compensation claims dropped 19 percent in Mississippi during November, according to a report released by the Mississippi Economic Council, the state chamber of commerce.

The report, released by Henry Paris, chairman of the MCE Business Climate Committee, noted that in November only 20,917 total unemployment compensation claims had been filed as compared to 25,997 in October.

CHRISTMAS CAROLING
Saturday night, Dec. 23, 30 members and guests of the Waveland Methodist Church School went Christmas caroling to the people in the County Home, Hancock General Hospital and Gulf View Haven Nursing Home. They also visited the Shopping Centers and sang at A&P and TG&Y.

At Hancock General Hospital, the children were the ones receiving a special treat when they were requested to visit the room of one the patients who could not get out of bed and sing his favorite songs for him.

After the caroling, the children returned to the Church where they decorated the Christmas Tree. They were treated to cookies and hot chocolate with marshmallows.

KEY '73
Various churches throughout the United States are participating in a program called KEY '73, a program of evangelism under the theme, "Calling Our Continent To Christ."

The program is divided into six phases: calling our continent to prayer and repentance, calling our continent to the word of God, calling our continent to the Resurrection, calling our continent to witness, calling our continent to new life in Christ and calling our continent to commitment. The first place of the program involves a prayer at noon each day from Dec. 26-Jan. 6. On the night of Jan. 6, a program will be presented on network television launching KEY '73. Main St. United Methodist Church is participating in the program.

for a drop of 19.5 percent.

"This drop in unemployment compensation claims," said Paris, "shows that Mississippi is making great progress in the fight against unemployment. Mississippians have shown they believe in work and making their own way. I think this report shows we in Mississippi have the right to be proud of our people."

The MEC report also showed an increase in gasoline tax collections in November of 19 percent over that of October. The November figures showed $8,334,401 in collections compared to $6,999,928 in October.

Sales tax collections in October were $24,268,549 up 26.5 percent over the preceding month's total of $20,147,206.

Total tax collections in October by the State Tax Commission were $40,007,898 an increase of 19.4 percent over the preceding month's total of $33,511,904. Total tax collections during the preceding six months were $237,300,063 up 15.4 percent over last year's total of $205,552,377.

The MEC report is included in the table of Mississippi Economic Trends in the MEC Action bulletin.

Do believe all who were able to attend enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Later that evening a Christmas Party in honor of all HGH employees was held at which time presents were distributed to one and all by Santa.

Special thanks to the following who helped to make our Christmas Cantata a success: T.G.&Y., Gulfport Paper Co., Office Supply Co., Tom Hightower, Greg Reagan, Walter Turcotte, Bronsarda Music, Laura Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Ormer Haas, Cassie Haas, Billie Sills, and Ronnie Artigues. Also, to each and everyone of our most talented employees who worked together to make our program a huge success, we say "Thank you!"

We are most appreciative to Bob Hubbard for the beautiful photos he took of the Christmas Cantata.

Another Merry Christmas has come and gone. Christmas day and a couple after were used by those receiving golf clubs, boats, fishing tackle, tennis rackets, new bicycles, motor bikes, guns, etc., to try them out. The little fry had a ball with toys left by Santa Claus.

Hunters took to the woods to do some hunting while fishermen were seen in the bayous, rivers and lakes trying to catch their favorite fish. Christmas in all is a wonderful time for everyone. Thank God there is still Christmas in this wonderful land of ours, America.

We spent the holidays in the big city, New Orleans with our children and visiting friends of years back.

The weather in general was on the cool side. Not too cold, just cold enough to make outdoor life enjoyable. Perfect enough to bring in the ducks, geese, and doves for those who like these sports. Fishing, oystering and crabbing was in full force. Both salt and fresh water fish were caught.

House parties were plentiful for those having their children home from college and guests from out of town. New Year activities are anxiously awaited by all.

J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, reminded Louisiana waterfowlers that the second and final segment of the 1972-73 waterfowl season on ducks, coots, and geese opened Saturday.

The duck and coot split, Angelle said, will run through January 11, taking in the prime Christmas and New Year's hunting holidays. The goose split, however, runs through January 31.

Aerial duck-count surveys conducted by the Commission's waterfowl biologists indicate a high percentage of diving ducks on Catatoula Lake, a prime duck hunting area in central Louisiana. Angelle cautioned hunters to be sure of their targets before squeezing the triggers, as this high population contains large numbers of canvasbacks and redheads, both protected by closed season this year.

Biologists noted that hunting during the second split should be better than that experienced during the first segment, and if wintertime conditions are prevalent, the kill ratio should increase proportionately, Angelle concluded.

A lot of our local duck hunters hunt in La. marches.

J. Burton Angelle also announced that the first half of the deer hunting season in Louisiana closed Sunday, December 17, but re-opened the day after Christmas in most areas of the state.

"All reports indicate a productive season thus far," Angelle said, "and much of the safety involved in deer hunting has been increased substantially by the regulation requiring hunters to wear blaze orange."

"The mandatory wearing of the coloration will also be required during the second segment. All persons hunting deer on game management areas or on lands not legally posted must comply with the ruling requiring a minimum of 400 square inches of hunter-orange worn on the chest, back, and cap. Only one fatality has been recorded in hunting deer this year, and we feel confident that hunter orange is responsible for safety being evident. We want to keep it that way."

In addition to the hunter orange law, Angelle added, all wildlife laws pertaining to the open seasons will be strictly enforced. Cooperation of the outdoorsman is requested.

First report to come from dove hunters in a long time came from the following: David Peranich, Mr. Baker of Slidell, Ames Kergosien, Hoke Ogden, Harry Roman, Louis Pecell, Herbert Finley, Joe Kern, Sonny Lombard, Bub Genin and A.G. (Mitch) Mitchell. These are old timers at dove hunting, been doing it for years.

The two segments of the dove season weren't too good but the third segment which is open now is proving much better. All of the above killed their limit. They are a group who hunt regularly. The birds were killed in the Poyun area. They are members of a hunting club.

Doves are migratory birds and come our way with cold weather.

Sea Chest Co-owners, Shirley Whitlow and husband, Arch, do quite a bit of fishing and crabbing at every opportunity. They are swell folks to know.

August Rauxet and sons are real duck hunters. They have been getting their share of the prized birds. You can bet they had duck and geese for Christmas Dinner. They will be going often until the season closes.

If you gave your teen-age son a gun for Christmas, take him out and show him how to use it. Safety is the best policy.

Luke Elliott, John Ristolph and Dr. Cliff Comesux of Baton Rouge and Plaquemine Parish, La. are looking forward to a duck hunt in January out in the La. marches. They will be guests of August Rauxet on his boat. It is an annual trip.

Jack Pernicelli and Mike Willumitis both work at Breath's Boat Works. When not fixing outboard motors Jack does car racing and Mike is either fishing or hunting, preferably hunting. Both are good at fixing outboard motors.

Speckle trout fishing has let up again. Practically none were caught last weekend. Must be a reason.

J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, announced that shrimp trawling in inside waters in Louisiana closed at midnight last Thursday and will remain closed until the commission sets the date for spring trawling.

Under existing Louisiana law, the spring season must be set by the commission to commence not later than May 25, extending for a minimum of 50 days, or until technical data indicates that a closure is in order to protect the forthcoming white shrimp crop. Angelle warned shrimpers that contrary to rumors circulating, pertaining to the fact that the legality of the shrimp count law was in litigation, this had nothing to do with the date for the closing of trawling in inside waters, he said.

Bass and perch were caught the past weekend mostly by trolling and casting with underwater baits. Small bayous proved the best for catching them on a low tide. Bass can be caught the year round hereabout.

Redfish are still being caught most anywhere. Frozen shrimp is the best bait for catching them if you can find them. They are being caught right now in Upper Campbell's Bayou at the railroad bridge at Bayou DePlane.

John's Bayou is a wonderful place to catch bass this time of the year. The road to the bayou is bad but John's Bayou can be reached by going up Bayou DePlane from LaFrances' Camp. They are caught mostly on underwater baits. Alden Mauffray and yours truly made a nice catch of bass last Wednesday in the small bayous off Pearl River at Pearlington.

Was a pleasure meeting Harry Hosmer, brother of Mrs. Rene DeMontezin. We don't know whether Harry fishes or hunts, makes no difference, he is still a swell guy.

Eddie and Milton Favre are speckle trout fishermen. A couple of weeks ago they caught some big ones up Jourdan River.

Billy Ladner, Wop Glover and Norvin Kelly hunt most anything. Billy especially has been killing mostly quail, plus some doves and ducks. Billy has about 8 quail dogs, some of the best. Kelly hunts and fishes. He is a nephew of Jim Kelly on Mulatta Bayou. Enough said.

every day. Catches all kinds of fish. Has some interesting stories to tell.

Ed Nelson is an old time hunter and fisherman. His fishing and hunting partner is Bravo Woodcock of the Pass. They hunt and fish, camp out, etc. John Stiglet is the head cook on all cook-outs. John is the father of Harold Stiglet who we all know. Ed mostly hunts rabbits with beagle hounds and loves to catch fresh water catfish. Is there any better eating?

Woodcock hunting seems to be a rarity now days. Joe Kern and myself a few years back, with the help of "Pretty Boy", his Labrador retriever, got our share of the prized birds around Pearl River Station. Woodcock are a larger bird than quail and just as good eating.

These guys hunt all the time but during the Christmas Holidays hunt more. They are Billy Ladner and Norvin Kelly. Billy has some bird dogs which are good. He hunts with Wop Glover, another bird dog lover. This group right now are hunting quail, doves and ducks.

New Year's Prayer For Our City

LORD, WE PRAY THEE for this, the city of our love and pride. Help us make our community the mighty common workshop of our people, where everyone will find his place and task, in daily achievement building up his own life to resolute manhood, keen to do his best with hand and mind. Bind our citizens in the glow of neighborly goodwill, by the thrill of common joys, and the pride of common possessions. Grant us vision of our city, fair as she may be; a city of justice where none shall prey on others; a city of plenty and one of brotherhood, where all success shall be founded on service, and honor shall be given to nobleness alone; a city of peace, where order shall not rest on force, but on the love of all the city.
